

KLOVE radio station in the Denver area is a great asset to the community. I personally know of many people who listen to this station on a regular basis. There actually only 2 such stations in this area and it would be a huge shame to get rid of KLOVE and take us down to only one station serving the whole front range area. There are definitely enough other stations, I would think 2 christian stations wouldn't be too much to ask. I have 2 teenagers and would much rather they listen to the music on these stations than most of the other junk that is broadcast out there. Thank you for your time.
